

Trading Day - Lenders take 2pc hit as retailers JB Hi-Fi, Harvey Norman rally

DAVID ROGERS MELISSA YEO

AUGUST 17, 2020

2.50PM Hydrix reports first heart device implants

Biotech developer Hydrix has reported the first supply and implant of its AngelMed Guardian heart attack warning device.

The listed group said this afternoon that four of its devices had been successfully implanted to patients in Singapore last week through an early access scheme, each of which had now been discharged from hospital.

The implant is a milestone for the group in the Asia Pacific after acquiring a seven-year distribution agreement for eight countries earlier this year.

Hydrix said it was exploring opportunities for implants under Australia's early access scheme, saying there was potential for local implants in the December quarter.

HYD shares are surging on the news, last up 197pc to 26.5c.

<https://www.theaustralian.com.au/business/trading-day/trading-day-asx-to-open-lower-as-earnings-season-pace-picks-up/news-story/3761b43b1005634acce4755cea79e28b>
